

Serving Families With Special Needs

Greg Kinney

Retired

"I have chosen to support the SPECIAL REACH mission because I believe it to be a much-needed service in the San Antonio area. My immediate family's experiences with special needs children have opened my eyes to the difficulties faced by parents of these children, and my desire is to offer what expertise I may have in order to relieve these families of the tremendous pressures they face."

Professional Profile:

Born in Atlanta Georgia, Greg Kinney graduated with bachelor's degree from University of Georgia and subsequently served in U.S. Air Force as a pilot. After his retirement from military service, he worked as a corporate and airline pilot, professional commercial photographer, and an adjunct professor at Southwest School of Art. Greg Kinney has also served as Chapter President, Board Member and National Board Member & officer of ASMP (The American Society of Media Photographers), a 501c-3 trade organization. In his spare time, he enjoys golf, ceramics, and quality time with his family.

Greg and his wife Marsha C. Kinney, M.D. have supported Special Reach with their time, talent, and treasure since 2011.
